

IMPROVEMENT OF STREETS ORDERED

Final Action Taken by City Council to Pave Ten Blocks—Cement Will Probably be Used.

POLICE DEPARTMENT CHANGE

Charles Wallace to Succeed George Wolfe and Meade Chosen as Fire Department Member.

Final resolutions ordering the permanent improvement of ten squares were adopted by the city council at the regular meeting Thursday night. The streets to be improved are: West Second from Chestnut to Central avenue; East Second from Ewing to Blish; South Chestnut from Bruce to Laurel. According to the resolutions the bids will be received May 28th at 7:30 o'clock p. m. While it is understood that the majority of the property owners favor concrete they may petition for any one of the materials mentioned in the preliminary resolutions.

As the Indianapolis, Columbus & Southern Traction Company will be required to pay for part of the improvement on East Second and the L. & L. Traction Company is affected by the proposed improvement on South Chestnut the question of the marginal stone was presented. The interurban companies desire to use brick on the part of the street to be improved by them so that if it is necessary to tear it up it can be replaced at less expense and be more satisfactory. In case brick is used along the tracks and the rest of the street is paved with concrete it will be necessary to lay a marginal stone between the two materials. When two blocks on South Chestnut were improved last summer the marginal stone was placed on the part to be paid for by the Traction Company.

Frank P. Smith, of the Indianapolis, Columbus & Southern Company, appeared before the council and stated that they did not object to the improvement and were willing to do their part but insisted that the marginal stone be placed without the eighteen inch limit. Under the ordinance the traction companies are required to pave the street for eighteen inches on either side of the rails. He said the ordinance gave the company the right to select the material to be used and that they would use brick. He declared that while the company would prefer to postpone the work for another year it would not remonstrate. The company will make the improvement so that there will be no interference with the schedule.

There were no objections filed to the improvement of East Second street and the confirmatory resolution was adopted by unanimous vote. The council voted to place the marginal stone, if it is used, outside of the part to be improved by the Traction Company.

When the resolution for the improvement of West Second street was called Judge O. H. Montgomery, representing the property owners on the square between Chestnut and Walnut streets, stated that they believed that this part of the street should be improved under a separate contract.

GASOLINE IGNITED WHEN AUTO ENGINE BACKFIRED

Roadster Belonging to Harold Stewart Completely Destroyed by Flames Thursday Night.

A Stutz roadster belonging to Harold Stewart, proprietor of the Stewart Garage, was almost completely destroyed by fire about 9:30 o'clock Thursday night. In the car were Mr. Stewart and Scott Everhart, who is employed at the garage.

While the motor was in motion there was a "backfire" through the carburetor and the gasoline ignited. The fluid in the carburetor and in the feed pipe was thrown over the motor and in a few seconds the entire car was in flames. Both Mr. Stewart and Everhart escaped without injury but were unable to save the car. The motor was entirely destroyed and the bed of the car was badly damaged. The remnants of the machine were left in the road, near the Cunningham Nursery, over night and was brought to the city this morning.

COUNTY TREASURER SENDS $2000 CHECK

"S. O. S." Call for Funds Answered and City Employees Receive Their Wages as Usual.

TREASURY WAS ABOUT EMPTY

Situation Will be Relieved Monday by Receipt of $8,000 for Liquor Licenses.

Because of the temporary depleted condition of the treasury it was doubtful if the city employees would receive their wages today, but County Treasurer Belding answered the "S. O. S." call with a $2,000 check and the "ghost" walked as usual. This is the second demand that has been made on the county treasurer for funds within the last month.

The present council went into office and found an empty money box. At that time there were many bills outstanding and a temporary loan of $12,000 was negotiated. This amount has been used up and a few weeks ago the county treasurer was asked to forward part of the taxes that have been collected. It was found under the state law that the city can demand monthly payments if it desires.

When the monthly bills were paid on April 30 it was found that there remained in the treasury but $112.12. County Treasurer Belding was asked to send a partial payment of taxes collected but he was not certain that he could comply because of the rush at the treasurer's office. However, the city treasurer received word this morning that the check was mailed today and the employees were given their checks as usual.

The semi-annual distribution of taxes from the county treasurer for the general fund amounts to about $16,000. As the city has already received one-fourth of this there will be but $12,000 coming in June when the semi-annual settlement is made. Besides this amount which goes into the general fund there will be several

REPORTS ARE FILED BY ENUMERATORS

Show That There are 1,676 Children of School Age in the City, a Gain of 91 Over Last Year.

PER CAPITA OF $4 RECEIVED

According to Estimates Made on Figures Seymour Has a Total Population of 7,542.

Harley Hunsucker and J. A. Spray have completed the enumeration of the children of school age in Seymour and their reports show a total of 1,676. They made a complete and careful canvass of the city and endeavored to include all children between the ages of six and twenty-one years in the enumeration. The report was filed today with County Superintendent Payne who will forward it to the state department of education at once.

According to this report will be made the distribution of school funds. The city will receive about $4 for each child enumerated and the necessity of making a complete enumeration is therefore apparent. The money is obtained from interest from school funds and is not raised by taxation.

The report this year shows an increase of ninety-one over last year when the total enumeration was 1,585. The summarized report is as follows: White boys 834; white girls; 808; colored boys 18; colored girls 16.

It has been estimated that the correct population of any city can be obtained by multiplying the school enumeration by four and one-half. This gives Seymour a total population of 7,542. It is thought that this is about the correct census of the city and is in line with other unofficial counts that have been made since 1910.

The school funds due this city will be distributed in a few weeks. The reports from all the cities and towns in the state will be forwarded at once and the heavy task of apportioning the money will require considerable time.

THE BEE HIVE

MOVED HERE SIXTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Joseph Burkart Came Here When Seymour Was a Settlement of a Few Hundred People.

HAS SEEN MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Swamps Have Disappeared With Drainage and Woodlands Converted Into Fertile Farms.

On May 1, 1854, just sixty years ago today, Joseph Burkart, then a lad of seven years, moved to Seymour with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Burkart, and since that time has lived almost continuously at the place of his present home on East Second street. His father bought the lot from Meedy W. Shields, the founder of Seymour, and the title has always remained in the Burkart family. The original house was torn down some years ago by Mr. Burkart and the present dwelling was erected. With the exception of one or two years he had lived on that site since he became a resident of Seymour.

To chronicle the life of Mr. Burkart would be almost synonymous with the history of Seymour. When he came here in 1854 there was but a few houses and the population did not exceed two hundred. The town was then two years old. The territory was a wooded swamp, malaria was found in almost every family and there was a saying that quinine was almost as common as coffee.

Mr. Burkart was born at Baden, Germany, December 22, 1846. With his parents he came to this country landing at New Orleans in 1852. They came immediately to Louisville and remained there until they came to Seymour.

Mr. Burkart, Sr., was a wagon maker and his son was employed with him for a number of years. Burkart wagons were sold in all parts of southern Indiana and were known for their durability. There were, of course, handmade as the machinery had not yet come in use. In 1869 Mr. Burkart took employment with the old O. & M. shops which were then located here and remained in the employ of the company until 1887 when the shops were removed to Washington. He was offered a position at Washington but he refused to leave Seymour.

When Mr. Burkart first moved to Seymour Rockford was the principal trading point for the vicinity. Besides the several stores there, there was a large packing establishment which sold most of its output to the government during the civil war. On July 4, 1854 the first train was run from Cincinnati to Seymour over the Old O. & M. road, now the B. & O. Southwestern Railroad. This marked the beginning of the rapid growth of the city. It was apparent thereafter the railroads would take the place of the river for transportation and naturally new settlers to this community moved to Seymour. The decline of Rockford as a trading point was soon apparent and the dreams of the founders that it would become a large and important river city were recognized as impossible.

Mr. Burkart was married to Miss

JACK FROST PUT SPRING STRAW HATS ON RUN TODAY

Thermometer Fell to 36 Degrees Above Zero But Little Damage Was Done to Fruit.

The appearance of Jack Frost put the spring straw hats to flight and only a few have been seen today even if it is May Day. Those who did bring them out early this morning tried to make themselves believe that spring had arrived and left their overcoats at home.

The frost did not do a great amount of damage to the fruit trees, according to the reports today. In some parts of the county the frost was quite heavy. The lowest temperature reached during the night was thirty-six degrees above zero. In some parts of the state the thermometer reached a lower point and it is reported that the damage to the fruit trees will be heavy.

By United Press. Tokio, May 1.—The Steamship Siberia with a passenger list of eighty and a crew of 282, is reported to be sinking off the island of Formosa. Many ships are hastening to aid the steamer. Several wireless calls were picked up but these suddenly ceased and it is feared that the ship has sunk.

No details have been given. Among the passengers was Mrs. Francis Burton Harrison, wife of the governor general of the Philippines. She had been visiting in Japan and was returning to Manila.

One dispatch conveys the report that the disaster was caused by Chinese pirates but no verification of the report is made. Several vessels are hurrying to the disabled ship which was believed to be unsinkable.

MEDIATORS AWAIT CARRANZA'S REPLY

Huerta's Attitude on Armistice Between His Government and Northern Rebels, a Factor.

ANSWER OF SECRETARY BRYAN

If Constitutionalists Leader Consents Effort Will be Made to Adjust Internal Troubles.

Washington, May 1.—With the declaration of a truce between Huerta and the United States government, interest centered today in whether Carranza, the rebel chief, would resolve himself into the keystone of a diplomatic arch designed to bridge the whole problem of the pacification of Mexico and its international complications.

Huerta, it was announced, had accepted proposals of the South American envoys that hostilities between his forces and those of the United States cease. Secretary Bryan had informed the mediators that the American government "took it for granted there would be no hostilities during the mediation proceedings."

With the situation in hand, the mediators today looked for a reply to the armistice proposal sent to Carranza. Unless he entered into a truce with Huerta it was felt that the mediation attempt for the present necessarily would be confined to the adjustment of differences between Huerta and the United States, to the exclusion of Mexico's pressing internal difficulties. Constitutional officials in El Paso asserted Carranza's reply plainly was forecast in orders for a concentrated rebel attack on Tampico. The envoys, nevertheless, have not abandoned the idea of settling the entire Mexican problem.

Huerta's attitude on the question of an armistice between his government and the northern rebels also was a factor to be considered. However, it was generally believed that on the stand Carranza took on the truce proposition would hinge the question of whether the envoys would be able to go into the broad field of "all parties at interest in the problem of the pacification of Mexico and the adjustment of the differences between Mexico and the United States." That was their proposal in their offer of their good offices to the rebel chief. His acceptance expressed thanks to the envoys for their attempt to adjust the "differences between Mexico and the United States." No mention was made of the republic's internal strife.

With quiet but definite progress the envoys continued their sessions today, after a late night meeting, and Secretary Bryan expressed belief that the negotiations would proceed "as rapidly as possible." Unofficial reports that Dr. Edward Ryan, an American government employee, looking after refugees, was to be executed as a spy in Mexico City, caused no hitch in the diplomats' efforts. Vigorous representations were made in Dr. Ryan's behalf, and officials here declared that accusations of spying against him were absurd.

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN MAY PREVENT FIRES

Removal of Trash and Rubbish From Barns and Sheds Advocated by Local Fire Department.

SUGGESTIONS OF THE CHIEF

Calls Attention to City Ordinance
Prohibiting Burning of Trash
Except from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

A clean-up campaign is effective as a fire prevention measure and for this reason is of interest to the Seymour fire department. Often times inflammable materials are thrown into the trash heap and result in fire losses. If such materials were hauled away the risk would be reduced and the property owners would take less chance of having his home or the sheds on the premises destroyed.

Chief Everhart of the local department is enthusiastic about clean-up and paint-up week and urges that the plans of the committee be carried out in all parts of the city. He suggests that all trash and rubbish which have accumulated during the winter months be hauled away and that debris thrown in barns and sheds be given special attention. Frequently the trash heap is located in a barn or wooden shed and in case of fire the flames spread to the walls and the entire structure is either endangered or destroyed. Often times the sheds in the vicinity are damaged if the fire gained any considerable headway.

Chief Everhart also calls attention to the city ordinance regulating the burning of trash and debris before 9 o'clock in the morning and after 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He urges residents to take precautions to prevent the sparks from flying when trash is being burned.

The ordinance was passed several years ago as it was found that the majority of fires occur early in the morning or late in the afternoon and evening. During the day time more persons are on the streets and closer watch is kept upon the sparks which occasionally fly from burning trash. The danger of fire, he says, will be greatly reduced next week if the ordinance is obeyed.

The state fire marshal has issued a circular relative to clean-up and paint-up week and urges that such campaign be conducted in all cities and towns throughout the state. The reports filed with the state office by the various deputies show that many fires are caused by trash and rubbish and could be avoided if they were removed. He points out that such trash heaped up in the back yard not only mars the appearance of the premises but is a hazard to the buildings in the neighborhood.

The fire marshal makes a suggestion that shingle roofs be painted. It is also pointed out that if there is a general movement to clean up lawns, streets and alleys of the entire city one lot that is not given attention stands out more boldly against those surrounding which have been placed in a neat, clean appearance. Clean-up campaigns frequently result in lots being improved in appearance which would not receive attention if the general campaign had not been waged.

The city health board is also enthusiastic over the clean-up plans and believes that the campaign will result in improved sanitary conditions. Already many open garbage cans which are detrimental to the general health of the community, have been discarded and closed containers provided. The city ordinance calls for closed garbage containers and had been complied with very generally throughout the city.

The state board of health favors clean-up and paint-up campaigns as health measures. At the recent meeting of the mayors of Indiana at Indianapolis, Dr. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, advocated such campaigns and urged the mayors to inaugurate them wherever possible. A little work upon the part of each citizen will bring about better conditions in this respect and the value of the labor cannot be counted in dollars and cents.

PLEDGE CARDS HAVE BEEN DISTRIBUTED

School Children are Showing Much Interest in Clean up and Paint up Campaign Here.

PRIZES HAVE BEEN OFFERED

Expected That More Than One Thousand Cards Will be Returned—Preparations Completed.

There is probably not a family in Seymour who has not been visited by school children during the last forty-eight hours with a request for their signature to the Clean-up Pledge Card. The cards were distributed to all the schools, both public and parochial, Thursday and the canvass for signatures began with the enthusiasm and earnestness which children always manifest in a campaign for the good of the city. Several citizens declare that they did not know that there were so many children in Seymour before.

The cause for the great activity on the part of the school children is that a prize is offered to each child who secures the signature to five cards. These cards as indicated in Tuesday's Republican request the property owners to clean up their premises and the alleys adjoining.
During next week all rubbish and debris is to be piled conveniently by late Friday night or early Saturday morning, so that the teams of the city can gather it and clean up the entire city without repeating their trips over the same territory. Where a child secures more than five signatures, a potted plant is given them for each five signatures which they secure.

These cards are to be returned to the teachers not later than next Monday morning, so that after being checked by the teachers they can be reported to the committee the first thing Tuesday morning. It is expected that more than 1,000 cards will be returned as a result of the school children campaign.

The committee on Clean-up Week met again last evening. The matter of cleaning up the alleys in the business districts was under discussion and the request is made that all business houses see that the alleys adjoining them are cleaned and all rubbish in shape to be hauled away at the same time the rubbish is hauled away from the other parts of the city. The alleys in the business districts are generally in worse condition than those in the residence parts of town. This comes about naturally because of the litter which comes from store sweepings and from unpacking of goods with little or no place to put the rubbish except in the alleys. It is hoped that every business man will see that the alley adjoining his business room is cleaned.
Many business men have already signed cards which the school children have presented and before the close of the week probably every business man in town will have pledged himself to do his share of the work for Clean-up Week.

In many parts of the city property owners have been doing their usual spring cleaning. In cases where this is true there will be little additional work to be done. The housecleaning season is now at its height and most of it will be over by the close of next week, so that at the close of Saturday, May 9th, Seymour will present to its citizens and its visitors a model "spotless" town. Every citizen is urged to cooperate with the committee and see that their share of the clean up and paint up work is well done. Such a spirit of cooperation makes the task light for all and indicated the right sort of a civic spirit in the community. Much trash and rubbish has accumulated during the winter months and this can all be cleaned up during Clean-up Week.

The city government is cooperative in this campaign. Ten teams will be employed, five of them will work north of the B. & O. and five south of the B. & O. Railroad. All tin cans and other rubbish will be hauled to the dump which is north of the city while any ashes or other dirt that is suitable for filling will be used in convenient places where filling is needed.

Concert by Boys' Band.
By United Press.
Michigan City, Ind., May 1.—The Boys' band of Muncie has volunteered to give a concert at the state prison chapel on the second Sunday in May—Mothers' Day—for the pleasure of the inmates, and the offer has been accepted by the prison authorities. The band embraces thirty members, their average age being only even years. Their average weight is seventy-six pounds. It is believed their appearance on Mothers' Day will be very effective.

The band gives its services free of charge, but Chaplain O. L. Kiplinger may arrange for a down-town concert to help defray its expenses.

Each prisoner will get a carnation on Mothers' Day. This year they will be furnished by the employees of the Bemis Bag Company of Indianapolis.

ALLEGED CRUELTY BASIS OF HATRED

Many Mexicans Hold Grudge Against Americans, Claiming They Have Been Mistreated.

REPORTS, MADE OF MURDERS

Wealthy Landowners and Contractors Are Said to Control Employees Under Threat of Death.

(By Wm. G. Shepard, Staff Correspondent of United Press.)
Mexico City, May 1.—Do Mexicans hate Americans? They do; millions of them do. And during the past two months in Mexico I have learned why so many Mexican Indians wish to kill or abuse American mine managers and planters. I have heard, first hand, from Americans, more than one terrible story of how they abused their Mexican employees. These stories have been told to me in boasting spirit. In the days when Diaz ruled with his iron hand, Americans, as a rule, treated their Mexican workmen as the most cruel of the slave owners of the old south treated their black slaves.

"I've ridden into a bunch of them and mowed them down with a machete as if they were dogs," one American told me. I won't give his name because he has in his possession, at this moment, letters threatening his life when the rebels enter Mexico City. He is rich and influential and his fortune has been made in Mexico.

"It was the only way to treat them," he said. "Now and then some of them would get drunk on my ranch in Tampico. I found the best way to do was to ride right in amongst them with a big knife and slash right and left, as they scattered. If any showed fight I'd shoot them. Revolver in one hand, machete in the other. That was the way I used to fix them. We'd have the funeral the next day and peace for a long time after that. I'd have the governor of the state and the mayor of the nearest town on my pay roll and I'd report the slaughter to them—it was always a slaughter, too, let me tell you—and they'd always answer that I had done just right. Those were good old days, the Diaz days. The foreigners had plenty of rights then."

"One time I had a quarrying contract on the west coast," another rich American told me recently. I had about 6,000 very religious Mexican Indians. As soon as I got my camp established an archbishop sent out a priest. He rigged up a church and every time he rang the bell all my Indians stopped work for a few minutes for devotions. I saw pretty soon that I was losing time by it so I hunted up the archbishop and said to him:

"Look here, I want to come to some terms with you about that bell ringing. If you'll agree to make a schedule which provides for that bell being rung only two or three times a week I'll build you a little church out there in my camp and I'll cut the wages of any Indian who doesn't have his money ready when the church collectors come around."

"The bargain lasted two years until the old priest was called away and a new one came. He was dead honest; I couldn't do a thing with him. He started ringing the bell on the old schedule. I told him about the arrangement I had with the bishop.

"I don't care what arrangements you've made with the bishop," he told me. "It's my duty to ring that bell every day at the proper times and I'm going to do it."

"That night I ordered my boss to burn the church. It was done. The old bishop sent another priest and my foreman ran him off." Since the revolution began in Mexico and the Indians discovered their power, on masse, this man has received hundreds of letters from former workmen threatening his life.

A miner in Guanajuato, who has just returned from Washington where he endeavored to persuade President Wilson that intervention in Mexico was necessary, said to me:

"I've had to kill Indian workmen who wouldn't obey me. There's no possible way to get along with a Mexican and treat him kindly. You have to beat them like dogs. Any time one of my workmen is suspected of stealing ore, he is brought to me and I start right at him with my fists. I knock him as near senseless as I can and then make him confess."

Another American boasted to me: "I had a strike in my mines one time,

MEXICANS TO SHOOT AMERICAN PHYSICIAN

State Department Takes Up Dr. Ryan's Case.

Washington, May 1.—The persistence of the rumor in Washington that Dr. Ryan, a prominent physician in Mexico City, had been sentenced to be shot by a Huertista court martial charged as a spy, caused Secretary of State Bryan to lay the matter before the Spanish embassy here. Mr. Bryan urged that representations be made through diplomatic channels looking to a stay of execution.

Seranton, Pa., May 1.—That Dr. Edward W. Ryan of this city is held as a spy at Zacatecas, Mexico, and may be executed, was the substance of a report which reached Mrs. Henry Lawler, a sister of the doctor. Although it was known that the young physician was in the center of hostilities, the news came as a shock because he has done heroic work in the Red Cross service and carried credentials from Huerta and Villa as well as a commission as special representative for the United States, attached to the embassy at Mexico City. It was reported that Dr. Ryan had been taken to a fortress near the city to undergo the death sentence.

Mrs. Lawler wired Secretary of State Bryan for authentic information of her brother's whereabouts.

Something Else May Have to Be Done. Vera Cruz, May 1.—General Frederick Funston and the United States army are now in military control of Vera Cruz. It is reported that Admiral Fletcher with his squadron may be off today for Tampico, where something else may have to be done. There is nothing definite about this. It is only in the air.

His Emotion Overcame Him. Marselles, May 1.—General Pourquerez De Pelchavez, who led the French attack on Puebla, Mexico, in 1842, fell dead while reading a newspaper account of the landing of American forces at Vera Cruz. Just before he collapsed he exclaimed: "Magnifique!"

If you have Republican Advertising on your mind, you're right.

WILL PROSECUTE WAR TO THE END

Neither Huerta Nor Carranza Willing to Compromise.

LIMITS MEDIATION PROPOSAL

With the Failure of Volunteer Mediators to Secure a Cessation of Civil War in Mexico, Their Efforts Will Be Restricted to an Adjustment of the Crisis Between This Government and President Huerta.

El Paso, May 1.—General Pershing has started west from El Paso on an inspection tour of his border division of United States troops. His headquarters and the band of the Thirtieth cavalry have been moved into El Paso from Columbus, N. M. This now places the headquarters of six commands in this city.

Washington, May 1.—Secretary Bryan has received a communication from the Brazilian minister at Mexico City, saying that conditions are satisfactory there and that no further ill-treatment of Americans had been reported to him.

Washington, May 1.—Announcement is made that Huerta consents to a cessation of hostilities between himself and the United States pending the mediation proceedings, but not between the federals and the Constitutionalists. The United States already had indicated its intention to discontinue any hostilities while the mediation was on, and with the failure of the representatives of the three South American governments to bring about a suspension of hostilities between Huerta and the Constitutionalists, the mediation proceedings necessarily will be restricted to an adjustment of the crisis between this government and Huerta and the attempt to include the correction of the fundamentals of the Mexican situation will have to be abandoned.

Persons here who profess to be familiar with Carranza's views contend that he will not consent to a suspension of hostilities, at least until Tampico is taken. It was explained that Carranza is greatly in need of a port on the gulf coast of Mexico and that his forces will continue their campaign until they have attained that end before listening to any suggestion of mediation with Huerta. The possession of such a port would be almost indispensable to Carranza and his followers if any settlement of the Mexican situation should be brought about which provided for the separation of the northern from the southern part of the country under independent governments.

Actual developments in the field indicate that Carranza is now converging his forces upon Tampico in an effort to capture that place as speedily as possible. The United States is now engaged in an effort to bring about the establishment of a neutral zone near Tampico for the protection of the great oil wells there owned by foreign and American interests. The effort to effect this understanding is being made by Admiral Mayo with the British admiral at Tampico.

A SERIOUS COMPLICATION

Mexican Rebels at Tampico Fire on Merchant Vessel.

Washington, May 1.—Another complication which may turn out to be serious has come up in the Mexican situation. The Constitutionalists at Tampico have fired upon an American merchantman flying the Cuban flag and have wounded her helmsman. A bulletin given out at the navy department said that Admiral Mayo reported that the Ward liner Antillo, flying the Cuban flag, was stopped by the Constitutionalists while she was passing up the river to the city and was forced to anchor in the vicinity of Arbol Grande.

"Apparently," says the bulletin of the navy department, "it was necessary to fire upon the boat before she stopped, as the Antillo reported her helmsman wounded and required medical assistance. Admiral Mayo sent a boat with his aide and medical officer on board. Later a number of foreign officers headed by Captain Douglas of the Hermione called on the commander of the Constitutionalists for an explanation of the incident. The Constitutionalist commander explained that they could not let the boat proceed to Tampico, as it was necessary for them to stop all stores from reaching the federals and that they would be obliged to stop all merchant vessels in the future."

Admiral Mayo reported that shortly after this incident the Mexican federal gunboat Vera Cruz opened fire on the Constitutionalists, starting a blaze in two big oil lighters tied at the Waters-Pierce refinery pier. Under cover of this fire the Antillo got under way and proceeded up the river to Tampico.

The Ward line, which owns the Antillo, is controlled by American interests, but the Antillo herself is of Cuban registry.

European governments having vessels that touch at Tampico are likely to take up this incident. They will want formal notice of a blockade or will insist upon protecting their merchant vessels.

VILLA PUSHING HIS WARLIKE CAMPAIGN

No Cessation of Hostilities On His Part.

El Paso, May 1.—Immediate preparations for combined action against Mazatlan, Tampico and Saltillo is the answer in advance by the Mexican rebels to any invitation that may come to them to cease hostilities against the Huerta government pending mediation of the differences between Huerta and the United States.

Carranza and Villa do not recognize the armistice as having any connection with the affair between Huerta and the rebels and do not feel called upon to stop pressing their campaign against Huerta while mediation is in progress over the Vera Cruz-Tampico affair.

Pancho Villa's recent departure south from Chihuahua is for the avowed purpose of attacking Saltillo and moving against Tampico if Pablo Gonzales is not able to capture the east coast port, so that Villa may export his cotton which was confiscated from the Spaniards in the Laguna district of Coahuila. Saltillo is the next objective point and Villa intends to unite all factions in the rebel army by conducting an aggressive campaign against that town. His friends say that the real reason for dissensions in his ranks was the fact that his troops had had no fighting since the taking of San Pedro and that idleness breeds discontent in a Mexican army.

Villa has expressed his intention of pushing his campaign against the federals regardless of the negotiations which have been conducted between the Huerta government and the United States. While both Carranza and Villa have expressed their approval of the mediation plans proposed by the South American republics, their representatives here say that under no conditions will the Constitutionalists consent to cessation of fighting against Huerta at this time.

Villa has taken immediate steps to mobilize his entire fighting force, which is estimated at 15,000 men, around Saltillo.

MINERS GIVEN UP FOR DEAD

No Longer Any Hope of Life in the Eccles Mine.

Eccles, W. Va., May 1.—Huge piles of wreckage at the mouth of No. 5 shaft and four feet of water in the New River collieries company's mines, where the disastrous explosion and resultant loss of life occurred Tuesday afternoon, prevented the removal of dead bodies. At least a score of dead were found around the bottom of the shaft by the men who are cleaning away the debris and starting the pumps so that the cage can reach the bottom. No sign of men yet alive in No. 5 mine were found by the two crews of the federal mine rescue crews. Only a few bodies were found, but the rescuers did not go into the rooms where most of the miners worked. A short distance from the bottom of the shaft the canary bird died and further on the safety lamp could not burn.

Old Arson Case Revived.

Jasper, Ind., May 1.—The cases of Jack McCune and Buddy Parsons, charged with having burned the dwelling house and barn of Mrs. Jack McCune, nearly five years ago, have been set for trial June 2. John Nicholson has been convicted of the offense and in his trial he testified that McCune gave him $25 to haul the household goods and some provisions to his home, where they were found before Nicholson was indicted.

Roosevelt Reaches the Coast.

New York, May 1.—Theodore Roosevelt and his son Kermit have arrived safely in Manaus, Brazil, according to a brief cablegram received by Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., at his office here. Roosevelt said that he had explored successfully a thousand miles of an unknown river.

MIRACULOUS RECOVERY IS TALK OF ENTIRE CITY

JOHN L. BROWN

Given up to die, wasting away week by week and virtually in the clutches of the Grim Reaper, John L. Brown has recovered his health to the utter amazement of the people of Shelbyville, Ind., where he lives at 228 East Penn street. Nature's Creation, according to Mr. Brown, undoubtedly saved his life after a most desperate battle for health.

"Mr. Brown says: 'I contracted a cold during the flood of March, 1913, and it settled on my lungs. I began coughing and losing flesh. Soon I became unable to work at my trade as a barber and all through May, June and July I was not able to work much of the time, and Aug. 11 I had to give up work altogether. I was losing two and three pounds a week and in this time I went down to 146½ pounds. Four doctors had treated me with no success. I got worse all the time, so I bought a bottle of Nature's Creation. The first week I gained five pounds, the next two weeks I gained seven pounds and then I bought two more bottles. I now weigh 182 pounds, am still gaining and am the happiest man on earth.'

TALK OF CITY.
In a later statement, Mr. Brown says: "When I was sick I went down to 146½ pounds and to-day weigh 182 pounds and nothing in the world did but Nature's Creation. Everybody in town uses me as an example—everyone thinks it is a wonder and so it is, as four doctors had told me they were done and that medical aid would not help me. I will prove my condition by as many people as anyone would want and would be glad to do it for anyone."

On Feb. 11, 1914, Mr. Brown stated that he was so sick when he first came to the Indianapolis Nature's Creation office, that his knees gave way and he fell. He reported that he now weighed 187 pounds. Let us send you our free booklet telling how many others have regained health through the use of Nature's Creation. This booklet contains photos and testimonials, no doubt some of them from your friends and neighbors. Nature's Creation is invaluable in the treatment of tuberculosis and the conditions which lead to it—such as bronchitis, impure blood, run-down system and asthma—and if interested by all means write to-day for a copy of the booklet. MADE A GENERAL DENIAL

Mayor Roberts the Last Witness to Take the Stand.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 1.—With the testimony of Mayor Donn M. Roberts in his own behalf, the taking of evidence in the Roberts trial ended, and Judge Charles M. Fortune announced that the argument would begin tomorrow morning and that unlimited time would be given counsel. The case probably will go to the jury some time Tuesday. The trial of Roberts on a charge of conspiracy to commit a felony probably will go down in the history of criminal proceedings of Vigo county as one of the hardest fought and longest cases ever tried in the circuit court.

Roberts was the last witness to take the stand. He denied in detail any connection with alleged fraudulent registration and election tactics.

WHAT IS THE POLICY?

If the administration has a policy in the Mexican situation, it surely is not following it with any degree of uniformity. When the trouble first occurred President Wilson in a public statement made it very plain that the administration was not fighting Mexico as a nation, was on the most friendly terms with the Mexican people but refused to recognize Huerta or anyone else as the president of the republic. Before this declaration was made he even went so far as to indicate by his actions that the administration favored the rebels and lifted the embargo act on arms into Mexico so as to place the rebels in better position to fight Huerta and his supporters.

The administration says that we are not at war with Mexico. Probably the United States has not issued a formal declaration of war against Mexico but it does seem that the seizing of Vera Cruz, the killing of two hundred or more Mexicans, a half-hundred American marines and the formidable array of battle ships in the Mexican waters is actual war with the probable exception of the formal declaration.

President Wilson made it known that Huerta, as an individual, must salute the American flag as reparation for certain indignities offered the United States. Huerta has never complied with the request. The battle ships were sent to Mexico, Vera Cruz was seized and placed under military control. Then came the proffer of the A. B. C. republics for mediation. President Wilson in accepting the provisions of the mediators must recognize the Huerta government, a thing which he positively stated the administration would not do. What effect such a policy, if it is a policy at all, will have upon other foreign countries is yet to be seen. The United States in the past has always protected her honor and has insisted that the proper respect should be shown the flag. Other countries cannot but be surprised at the moves made in the Mexican affair. Secretary Bryan was in a position to accomplish a work that would have indelibly written his name upon the pages of history as a great diplomat, but thus far he has failed to measure up to his responsibility. His failure may be due to the policy adopted by the president. At any rate the present conditions are not at all satisfactory to the great mass of American citizens who believe in defending the honor of the United States.

It does not necessarily follow from what has been said that the American troops should be rushed into Mexico for peace is always better than war. It does appear, however, that the Mexican trouble could have been handled in a much better way if at the helm of the state department there had been a man who could command the situation with a firm hand. It is to be hoped that the present complex situation will soon be clarified and that the honor and glory of our flag will not be lowered in the eyes of other countries.

A Wireless Message From The Dead

By F. A. MITCHEL

We are moving so fast in scientific discoveries that, lost in wonder at what we know, we have no time to consider what our attained knowledge is likely to develop in future. For instance, we know that an electric current may be transmitted without any other medium than the atmosphere. We also know that functions of the body, if not electric, are a force something like electricity.

When I was a boy I was constantly finding myself saying something to a companion who would say, "Why, I was just about to say that myself." At the time I considered this a coincidence. Now I believe it to be a power I possessed in receiving the mental impressions of others by a sort of wireless process. I studied medicine and became a doctor. Then during hospital work I broke down and though it was between winter and spring, was obliged to go to the country to recoup.

I stopped at a house that looked down a valley, and the view was uninterrupted. I used to sit on the porch wrapped in rugs and enjoy the view in the sunshine. About a mile distant was a house that bore evidence of having been built in colonial times. It was not by any means a farmhouse, but something quite handsome. The architecture was that peculiar style involving a porch with pillars.

One night I was awakened by the sound of wheels stopping right under my window and thought I heard some one call "Doctor!" I raised the sash and put my head out through the window. A man in a wagon asked me if I was a doctor, and I said I was. Whereupon he begged me to come with him at once. I dressed myself unwillingly, went downstairs and got into the wagon with him. I asked him to tell me about the nature of the case I was expected to treat, but could get nothing out of him. He seemed entirely absorbed in some powerful emotion.

We were but a few minutes in reaching our destination, drawing up before a house with pillars from the porch to the roof. I inferred that I had come to the house about which I had so often dreamed. The door was opened by a woman in a short petticoat full at the hips, a kerchief across her bosom and a dainty cap on her head. She looked very much troubled.

"Come upstairs," she said.

I followed her up a winding stair case, and the woman opened a door with a glass knob. I entered the sick room to see a young woman lying on a bed with four high posts surmounted by a canopy. On one side of her was a man holding one of her hands; on the other side was a young girl holding the other. These two looked at me with that mute appeal a doctor is so often obliged to meet.

As I drew near the bed the girl with the invalid pulled down the bedclothes, and I saw at once from blood stains and temporary bandages that my patient had been wounded. I was not a surgeon, but felt obliged to perform a surgeon's part. I examined the wound and saw that it was near the heart, so near that I wondered that the wounded woman lived. There was nothing that I could do for her except bind up the wound in a more professional manner and await results.

Presently I saw her gasp, and between gasps she said to the man by her side:

"You are convinced of the unjustness of our suspicions?"

"Yes, yes; forgive me."

"I forgive you. Goodbye."

She fell back dead.

Amid a wall of those present I retired from the room. Notwithstanding the tragical circumstances, I could not but notice the costume of those in the house. "What singular persons!" I said to myself. "Not content with living in a colonial house, they adopt the colonial costume." This was especially marked in their collars, which were like those I had seen in pictures of America's early settlers. I was ushered out by the woman who received me and driven back to my home, where I went to bed, remaining half awake, half asleep, for the rest of the night.

Now, there was something uncanny about my visit, and I hesitated to talk about it to those in the house. I asked if any of the family had heard a wagon stop before the house during the night, but no one had heard any such sound. This induced me to maintain a reserve about my visit. Presently I ventured to ask who lived in the house with pillars and was told that no one lived there. It had been unoccupied for many years. The last tenant had vacated some thirty years before. I asked if anything peculiar had taken place there, but no one had heard of anything unusual. But before returning to the city I heard from a very old resident of the region there was a legend that long before the Revolution a murder had been committed there. A man in a fit of jealousy had stabbed his wife.

And now in this second decade of the twentieth century I have come to believe that the scene I witnessed took place as I saw it many years ago; that it was stored somewhere; it may be in some soul across the border, possibly one of the participants who flashed it to me by some such process as a wireless operator will flash a message from one side of the world to another.

Sunday School Lesson

May 3 (Second Quarter) Lesson 5.
THE PRODIGAL SON
(Temperance Lesson)

GOLDEN TEXT—I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven and before thee. Luke 15:18.

In this third part of the parable which is spoken of in verse three as "this parable," including the three stories of the lost sheep, the lost coin and the lost son, we have beautifully set forth the heart of God the Father, as no one but the Son of God could tell it out, for "no man knoweth the Son but the Father, neither knoweth any man the Father save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him" (Matt. xi, 27). We are told in many places of the love of the Father, as in John iii, 16; I John iv, 8, 16; and of the love of the Son, as in Gal. ii, 20; Eph. v, 25. The love of the Spirit is mentioned in Rom. xv, 30. The love of God and His unwillingness that any should perish are two of the great foundation truths of all Scripture, and are perhaps nowhere more simply told than in this threefold parable. Man's helplessness, his deadness and his selfishness and enmity to God are also here set forth.

It may be difficult to see quite clearly whom the elder brother represents, but we would not need to seek far or long to find some really saved people who act a good deal like the elder brother when sinners who have wandered very far away are welcomed home.

I have read a discourse upon this chapter by a great Bible student in which he thinks that both the elder brother and the ninety-nine just persons represent the angels who never sinned. There seem to me to be many difficulties in this interpretation. We are quite safe in dwelling upon the love of God in seeking and welcoming home the lost ones, and we shall understand many things better when the intelligence symbolized by the many eyes of the cherubim shall be ours.

How many seem to think that they have a right to demand of God a portion of this world's goods and to do as they please with it! Such self will is the essence of sin and shows the heart of man toward God, and yet God often permits it. Every sinner is in the far country, far away from God, without God and without hope, living unto himself, his life all dark and void and nothing glorifying to God in it (Gen. i, 2; Dan. v, 23). The ungodly are compared to dogs and swine by our Lord Himself and also by the Spirit through Peter (Matt. vii, 6; I Pet. ii, 22). The comparison would not be at all flattering to some respectable sinners, but the Bible never says nice things about the enemies of God. There are many ways of wasting one's substance, and when we read that he had spent all we think of the sick woman who spent all that she had upon physicians and was nothing bettered, but rather grew worse (Mark v, 25).

It was a good thing for this lost son that he became so desperately in want that he would fain have eaten swine's food, and it was a good thing for him that no man gave unto him. Possibly some "down and out" people might come to themselves sooner if no one helped them to be comparatively comfortable in their low down estate. It is a great thing when one is led to see himself in his true light before God, when his heart cry is, "God be merciful to me, a sinner." It is a good experience for a saved sinner when he is led to say as Job did, "I abhor myself" (Job xlii, 6). Whatever leads us to see more of God and His goodness is a helpful experience. It was good for this man when he began to think about his father and the abundance there which he might be enjoying. It was well when he determined to return to his father, confess his sin and ask to be given a servant's place, but it was better when he actually arose and came to his father.

See the father's heart in verse 20. "When he was yet a great way off his father saw him and had compassion and ran and fell on his neck and kissed him." No upbraiding, not a word of faultfinding, just a loving welcome home and a kiss of reconciliation. Do we know God as such a Father, and are we ready to tell lost ones of such a welcome awaiting them if they will turn with true penitence to Him? The son said part only of what he had intended to say, but was not allowed to finish it. Instead of the servant's place it is the best robe, a ring on his hand, shoes on his feet and a feast of welcome, because the lost one had come home. If we really believed that there was such a reception awaiting penitent sinners, how could we help urging them to come home?

It is said that they began to be merry—salvation is only the beginning of joy that knows no end. Consider the elder brother as representing one who has from his youth known the way of life, a child of godly parents and truly saved, having at some time not definitely known to himself accepted the Lord Jesus. He never fell into bad habits, but was always known as a good sample of a consistent Christian, though by no means a happy one. He did not know his father as he might have done and had no use for returning prodigals. Did you never see such a one in the glass or elsewhere?

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts About Kidney Troubles.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, caused nearly ten thousand deaths in 1912, in the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper, enclose ten cents and they will gladly forward it to you by Parcel Post.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00. Advertisement. m2d

NEW LAWS SAID TO BE NECESSARY

For the Prevention of Floods In Indiana.

A MOVEMENT IN THAT BEHALF

Commission Recently Appointed by the Governor For the Purpose of Studying the Best Means of Averting Flood Disasters in Indiana, Preparing to Present a Proposed Plan of Procedure.

Indianapolis, May 1.—The Indiana flood commission, appointed recently by Governor Ralston, laid plans for a state-wide movement for flood prevention at its first meeting held at the chamber of commerce building.

The next meeting of the commission will be held here on Tuesday, May 12, when a subcommittee will present a proposed plan of procedure to Governor Ralston. The subcommittee is composed of W. K. Hatt of Lafayette, professor of civil engineering in Purdue university, chairman; E. W. Shirk of Peru, and Victor M. O'Shaughnessy of Lawrenceburg.

Flood prevention plans were discussed and the members described the scope of the 1913 flood in their respective districts. A tentative plan of action was worked out and this was submitted to Governor Ralston in a conference at the statehouse. It was at the conclusion of this conference that the subcommittee was appointed. It was the sense of the sessions that effective flood prevention work cannot be done until new laws are passed. Existing laws forbid the participation of the state in the work of reconstruction and improvement of river beds and overflow districts, and most of the cities which suffered heavy flood losses are unable to procure funds for the work because of having reached the limit of their bonded indebtedness.

"Flood prevention is a state-wide question, even though some districts are not affected by floods," said Dr. Charles B. Stolts of South Bend, representing the Thirteenth congressional district on the commission.

"I believe that the state should regulate the construction and river improvements of Indiana," said J. E. Frederick of Kokomo. "In that way we will have no narrow and inadequate bridges or insufficient levee confines."

Governor Ralston suggested that only expert advice should be heeded. It was proposed also that the commission might profit by collecting the data and surveys made by the various cities where plans of flood prevention work are under way. Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Peru and Kokomo have taken such steps.

Victim of Foul Play.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 1.—That Edward R. Homer, the Payne (O.) railroad man, whose lifeless body was found in the intake well at the city water works pumping station here March 8, was the victim of foul play is the tenor of the verdict filed by Coroner Kruse.

HAVE NOT GIVEN UP THEIR ARMS

Strikers Not Willing to Take Too Long a Chance.

THE SITUATION IN COLORADO

While the Presence of the Federal Troops Has Resulted in Stopping the Bloody Industrial War For the Moment, There Is No Evidence That Permanent Peace Will Be Established Save on a Basis of Compromise.

Denver, May 1.—Throughout the southern coal fields apparent peace prevails. Federal troops are in charge of the "terror zone," and since their arrival not a shot has been fired.

The battles of Forbes and Walsenburg, which resulted in the killing of fourteen men, nine at Forbes and five at Walsenburg, ended, at least temporarily, ten days of tragedies unparalleled in the west since the redskins and the whites battled for supremacy in the very mountains where capital and labor are now struggling for mastery.

But the battle, which has cost near half a hundred lives, is not over. The federal troops may prevent actual bloodshed, but unless their presence eventually settles the strike, there can be no peace. The strikers have welcomed the government's fighters with open arms. They believe it means recognition of their union, yet they are not willing to take too long a chance. This is evident from their attitude in regard to the surrender of their arms.

Major Holbrook, in charge of the troops from Fort Leavenworth, has not yet demanded that the strikers turn their arms over to the government soldiers, but such a demand is expected. In view of this fact, William Diamond, organizer of the United Mine Workers, in charge for Trinidad, stated their position would be made known later.

"The strikers will comply with every command of the federal authorities," he said, "provided we are assured that the mines are to be closed and that the federal troops are to remain in the field until this difficulty is settled."

A conference between the strikers' chiefs and Major Holbrook was held at the latter's suggestion. "General" John R. Brown, commandant of the strikers' camp at San Rafael Heights; Frank T. Miner, president of the Trinidad Trades Assembly, and Armando Pelizzari, chief of the Italians at the new tent colony, visited the troop train. Major Holbrook received them at once and the conference lasted about an hour. At its close Major Holbrook gave out a statement in which he expressed the belief that as a result satisfactory relations have been established and that acts of violence will at once cease and said that the strikers expressed a willingness to give all the assistance in their power toward bringing about normal conditions. The union men seemed well satisfied with the result of their talk.

THE PRESIDENT ASKS CONGRESS TO HURRY

Army and Navy Need An Immediate Appropriation.

Washington, May 1.—Chairman Hay of the house committee on military affairs, at the request of President Wilson, has introduced a resolution providing that the appropriation of $100,000,000 carried by the military bill be made available for expenditures at once instead of on July 1, as provided in the measure.

In a letter to Chairman Hay the president pointed out that as a result of the recent movement of troops the appropriation made for the army for the current fiscal year was about exhausted. He suggested the advisability of passing a joint resolution placing the entire appropriation authorized by this year's bill at the disposal of the secretary of war at once in order that the necessity for deficiency appropriations for the army might not arise. Chairman Hay promptly introduced a joint resolution in accordance with the president's wishes. The resolution probably will be passed without delay. It is probable that if the present naval movements continue, the secretary of the navy will ask that the total appropriation of the pending naval bill be made immediately available. Some of the funds in that measure will be made available for immediate expenditure and all will be placed at the disposal of the government in this way if the president or Secretary Daniels gives the word.

Child Cross? Feverish? Sick?

A cross, peevish, listless child, with coated tongue, pale, doesn't sleep; eats sometimes very little, then again ravenously; stomach sour; breath fetid; pains in stomach, with diarrhea; grinds teeth while asleep, and starts up with terror—all suggest a Worm Killer—something that expels worms, and almost every child has them. Kickapoo Worm Killer is needed. Get a box today. Start at once. You won't have to coax, as Kickapoo Worm Killer is a candy confection. Expels the worms, the cause of your child's trouble. 25c. CHAPTER VII.

Left alone, Katherine drew a long breath. Her face was set and her eyes were harder than it is good for a woman's eyes to be. She pictured to herself the future for which she had just bargained. There would be wealth—no more pinching struggle with masked poverty, her father at ease, his political debts all paid. There would be no more pretense that her art was for love of it and not for money—she would be free to follow her desires in this as in all else. There would be honor and power as wife of the state's chief executive—and that was but a step to further honors that she would achieve at Slade's side—with Slade—always with Slade—ah!

As she stood thus the horror of what she had agreed to do swept over her, and she sank moaning and shivering into a chair, covering her face as if to shut out the hideous vision of herself as Slade's wife. She did not hear Bob enter, and did not know he was in the room until he touched her shoulder with tender alarm, exclaiming, "Why, Katherine, what's the matter?"

He did not think he ever remembered Katherine, strong, firm-willed Katherine, looking so pathetic and helpless. She dropped her hands from her face and he was surprised to see the misery in her eyes and the drawn lines about her mouth.

"I'm cold—I'm cold! I've had an awful chill," she tried to say, her teeth chattering with the sudden cold that seemed to freeze her lips. "Don't touch me, Bob?" she choked. "I've done it. I've done it. I always knew I'd do something terrible—I've done it." Her voice was hollow and her eyes were blank and expressionless.

"Katherine, tell me what's the matter? Can't you tell me?" There was a world of love and tender solicitude in Bob's voice. His manner seemed to rouse her, and she began to pace the floor excitedly.

"My mind's made up. It's all over between us now. I'm going to marry Slade," the words were uttered quickly, breathlessly.

"You're going to marry Slade," Bob could scarcely believe his ears. "You must be crazy!"

"No." Her voice was firmer now. "But I'm twenty-seven years old, twenty-seven years old." She bit the words off with a vengeance. "Soon I'll be thirty—thirty—do you hear? And you're the only man I've ever cared a rap for. I've tried to marry other men, rich men, men with important positions. Once I nearly did it in Europe. Then I thought of you, and I waited, I waited. And it's too late now. I can't wait any longer. I've worried and wondered ever since I got home what I could do. What I could do! Slade's the answer, Bob. Slade's the answer."

"My God, Katherine!" Hayes was completely bewildered at this unexpected outburst. "Slade's married."

"I don't care," she retorted, defiantly, gaining courage as she talked. "A woman more or less is nothing to that man. He'll move a mountain. He'll soon sweep her out of his path."

The hot blood surged up into Hayes' face. He was agast at this peep into the soul of the woman he had thought was tender and dear and sweet. Her complete disregard of Mrs. Slade enraged him.

"So this is what Slade has done!" His fists were clenched. "This is what he's after. This is what you want. I'm not surprised," he went on, bitterly. "It was always in you."

"Yes," she met this accusation, an angry light in her eyes. "It was always in me. I always had to have everything, be everything. I can't stay here and be a nobody. We're getting horribly poor. If we look prosperous, it's because nothing is paid for. When I was a child I always had to lead all the little games." She was talking rapidly, earnestly. "Then when I grew up there was only one leader here—Katherine Strickland, and after there was never but one woman left this place and did the things I've done and made the successes I've made, and now—to come back here—and settle down! When I'm Mrs. Slade I'll have the life I'm after—money and power and Europe—the world."

"Don't forget Slade," came sarcastically from Hayes. "Don't forget Slade," and he came toward her. "You'll have Slade, too. You'll have to live with him, a man who has lived all his life with another woman—who?"

"Don't!" she commanded. "He is only marrying me for a—a sort of housekeeper."

"You'll be his wife just the same."

Every word was a sting. "Yes—you'll have your revenge," Katherine answered quietly, more to herself than to him. Her voice dropped wearily. "Every time he kisses me—every time he comes into the room. But I'll get used to him, I suppose. Women get used to that sort of thing."

"Yes, and then go to the devil! I'll tell you what I think of you," he stormed. "You're a bad woman. You're as rotten as they make them. There's no type so low. You're bad to the marrow. London and Washington and Paris have done for you. You've butterflied all over the world till you're a heartless jade, junketing about from one embassy to another with all your pretty little cheating tricks and not a decent thought in your head."

"I won't listen," she gasped, amazed at his denunciation of her.

"You will listen!"

"Don't, oh, don't say such things. Bob," she pleaded.

"Why not?" he demanded. "You who plan to do such a devilish thing in the eyes of God and of men, can you be afraid to hear what it really is you plan? You will listen!"

He took a step nearer. He caught her roughly by the shoulders. He buried his lips into the soft tendrils of hair around her ear as he almost shouted: "You are going to rob a poor little woman—step into her house and snatch away her husband—and the only excuse you can offer is that you want his money. Why don't you rob somebody outright and get away with it? It's more honest."

Katherine shrank from him with a cry of protest.

"And all the while you love me," he went on, passionately, "you love me—"

"I don't," she sobbed.

"You lie!" he accused, hotly.

"Well, supposing I do—what can you give me?" she asked coolly.

"What can I give you?" he repeated. Then with a look of utter loathing in his eyes: "You contemptible little—" and he flung her from him.

"You're going to sell what's mine to the highest bidder," he panted.

"But Slade's not divorced yet, and before you get out of this dirty mire you'll regret it. You'll find yourself so deep in scandal—"

"I won't," Katherine protested, vehemently. "I won't have a scandal."

"They'll say he's your lover," his rage turning into fury.

Katherine looked at him as if she had been turned to stone. Then the real significance of what he had said fanned to a flame the rage that was burning in her heart—rage at him—at conditions—at everything! She gripped her fingers around one of the lovely roses at her belt and crushed it to a pulp! Then she ripped them from her gown—his roses—and threw them among the blazing logs in the fireplace.

She turned to him with a bitter laugh. "I'm through with you—and your insults," and she fled from the room.

Katherine did not go a moment too soon, for scarcely had the folding doors closed behind her when the door from the smoking-room swung open, and with noisy talk the few remaining members of the dinner party straggled in.

In her agitated condition, even Katherine would have found it difficult to regain her composure sufficiently to meet these men.

Ex-Governor Hibbard was in a particularly happy frame of mind. The senator's excellent viands and the senator's choice wines and the senator's Havanas had succeeded in making him feel well satisfied with the world in general and with Slade in particular. His round face was flushed and his string tie a trifle awry.

"Had a good time, senator," he said, removing his cigar, "but there were too many swallowtails here for me tonight. When I was governor of the state I never wore one. No, nor a plug hat, either."

"I never wore one, and I never will," seconded Colonel Smith, a typical long, lean, lanky westerner, with the inevitable western cut beard and hair a bit too long.

"Governor, you're right," and Strickland gave each man a resounding slap on the shoulder. "Colonel, stick to your guns. They're a nuisance. Now, boys, forget your homes and your trains. The others are all gone. Let us, the ringleaders, adjourn to the dining-room and over one of my punches—"

The governor patted his stomach tenderly. The mention of the senator's punch was all that was necessary to weaken his desire to catch a train.

"Ah! Strickland's punch! I'm with you."

"Now, gentlemen," interrupted Merritt in a business-like manner, "before we split up tonight it's understood we're all Slade men?"

"All Slade men!" was the unanimous shout from the colonel, the ex-Governor Hunt, pious old Pop Hart and Ingram.

"And we're preparing to cope with Slade's domestic trouble should it come up, and it will," went on Merritt.

"The devil, Strick!" broke in the colonel. "Can't it be patched up until after election?"

"No, gentlemen." The senator was unctuous but firm. "We must take Slade as we find him or—drop him. We're in the hands of a peculiar and dominant personality. We can't make these big fellows to order."

"What I can't understand," complained Hibbard, throwing the stub of his cigar into the fireplace, "is why they can't get on together."

"Take it from me, gentlemen, it's her fault," exclaimed Merritt, as much in favor of Slade as he had previously been opposed to him, now that Fannie was appeased with the money for her trip to Europe.

"She's preparing to desert him now," Strickland assured them. "It's irrevocable."

"Well, we can't blame him for being deserted," agreed Hibbard.

IN THE NEW COSTUMES MUCH OF THE DRAPERY IS DRAWN TO THE BACK.

At a recent showing of imported fashions there were several long, all-enveloping motoring coats that were practical as well as smart. They were of homespun or tweed, with now and then one of the new cottons; perhaps the most noticeable thing about these wraps was their lightness of weight. The day has passed for women to wrap themselves in heavy, cumbersome materials; although thick and warm, the new coating fabrics are not heavy.

No. 8322 is a full length coat developed in chateau-style homespun with buttons and stitchings of black. A feature of this coat is the wide armhole and the novel collar.

To make this garment in size 36, 5 1/2 yards of 42 inch material are required. Among the new costumes one sees quite a few that are entirely plain in front, having all the drapery drawn to the back. It is perhaps a more pleasing idea than that of a season or two back when most of the draperies were in front. In this instance, No. 8341, is shown a cleverly designed frock showing the new fad for "hiking" the skirt up a trifle in back; if this is not fancied the pattern is arranged for an inset section at the bottom. On this skirt the drapery is arranged to suggest a half panel in the back. The bodice is cut kimono; there is a small round collar and a vest effect with the lower portion pleated. Dark blue gabardine was used here combined with black satin.

This design requires for size 36, 7 yards of 36 inch material. No. 8322—sizes 32 to 44. No. 8341—sizes 34 to 42. Each pattern 15 cents.

These patterns for sale by the Racket Store. L. F. Miller.

ALLEGED CRUELTY BASIS OF HADRED

in the Diaz days and I asked the governor of the state, who was on my pay roll, to send me some soldiers. Instead of that he sent me a lot of uniforms and rifles and ammunition and a commission as a major in the Mexican army. He told me to organize an army of my own, and give it all the orders I pleased. I told some of the strikers they have to join the army. I put them in uniform, gave them rifles and bullets and took them to the mine. I ordered them to shoot against the strikers and they did. They killed 50 of their brothers and that ended the strike."

Perhaps, if an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" had been written years ago of Mexican slavery by Americans, the present revolution might have been avoided. The death rate of Americans in the present revolution is undoubtedly due, in a large measure to grudges of years' standing and to bitter recollections of cruelty and injustice in the minds of Mexican workmen. The more one looks into the matter the more one is convinced that the Belgians in the Congo were not more cruel than many Americans have been in Mexico.

STATE WIDE MOVEMENT FOR FLOOD PREVENTION

Committee Appointed by Governor Ralston Form Tentative Plans
at First Meeting.

A state-wide movement for flood prevention was planned by the Indiana Flood Commission, appointed recently by Governor Ralston, at its first meeting held Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce Building.

The next meeting of the commission will be held here on Tuesday, May 12, when a subcommittee appointed yesterday will present a proposed plan of procedure to Governor Ralston. The subcommittee is composed of W. K. Hatt of Lafayette, professor of civil engineering in Purdue University, chairman; E. W. Shirk of Peru, and Victor M. O'Shaughnessy of Lawrenceburg.

Flood prevention plans were discussed at the morning session and the members described the scope of the 1913 flood in their respective districts. A tentative plan of action was worked out and this was submitted to Governor Ralston in a conference at the State House yesterday afternoon. It was at the conclusion of this conference that the subcommittee was appointed. The members of the commission were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon.

It was the sense of yesterday's sessions that effective flood prevention work can not be done until new laws are passed. Existing laws forbid the participation of the state in the work of reconstruction and improvement of river beds and overflow districts and most of the cities which suffered heavy flood losses are unable to procure funds for the work because of having reached the limit of their bonded indebtedness.

"Flood prevention is a state-wide question, even though some districts are not affected by floods," said Dr. Charles B. Stoltz of South Bend, representing the Thirteenth Congressional District on the commission.

"I believe that the state should regulate the construction and river improvements of Indiana," said J. E. Frederick of Kokomo. "In that way we will have no narrow and inadequate confines."

Governor Ralston suggested that only expert advice should be heeded. It was proposed also that the commission might profit by collecting the data and surveys made by the various cities where plans for flood prevention work are under way. Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Peru and Kokomo have taken such steps.

L. H. Lewis, general secretary of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce, was appointed secretary of the commission and W. K. Hatt of Purdue University was named temporary chairman.

The commission is composed of a representative from each of the thirteen congressional districts. All were present for the morning session except S. B. Fleming of Fort Wayne, who wired that he would aid in any way possible. Mayor Benjamin Bosse of Evansville departed before the afternoon session convened.

Mrs. Elizabeth Smiley, who has been spending the winter here with her daughter, Mrs. N. G. Smith, left this morning for her home in Greencastle. Mrs. Smith accompanied her for a two weeks' visit.

He explained that several years ago the square was improved with crushed stone and cement and the present foundation might be sufficient. In case it is not, he said, the property owners should be allowed the amount received from the sale of the stone.

Andrews stated that the confirmatory resolution had been drawn with this in view and that square would be improved under a separate contract. Andrews also stated that Mrs. Catherine Meyers had asked him to file an objection to the improvement west of Walnut street for her mother, who owns a lot abutting the street. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Donaldson, who own property on West Second, wrote the city clerk that they were not in favor of the improvement. The letter was written from Topeka, Kan., where they are visiting.

Herbert Platter suggested that the surface water be taken to Pine street and also suggested that an eight-foot parkway be arranged for on West Second street west of Walnut.

A remonstrance and petition was filed by the property owners affected by the proposed improvement of the alley in Block "W" between Second street and St. Louis avenue. A remonstrance was filed against the improvement with brick and the petitioners asked that it be graded and improved with gravel or with the stone taken from Second street between Chestnut and Walnut. Upon motion of Andrews the remonstrance and petition were granted.

Property owners on Seventh street, between Chestnut and Pine streets, filed a petition asking for the improvement of that street. Upon motion of Andrews the city attorney was instructed to prepare a preliminary resolution and remonstrances, if any, will be heard on May 28 at 7:30 o'clock p. m.

Ahlbrand, chairman of the board of finance, reported that the gas bills which have been climbing upward with great rapidity had not been satisfactorily adjusted and suggested that the bill for this month be held until it could be verified.

Chairman Rockstroh, of the board of works, reported that some of the members thought the street commissioner could place the new roof on the tool building on Ewing street and moved that he be permitted to proceed with the work. The council at the last meeting ordered that bids be received. The councilmen voted to have the street commissioner supervise the work.

Hodapp introduced a resolution that Meade Downs be appointed a member of the fire department to take the place made vacant by the resignation of Charles Wallace. The resolution was adopted.

The petition filed by property owners on Second street between Ewing and Broadway that concrete be used in the improvement of that square will be acted upon at the proper time. After the bids are received the majority of the property owners may petition for the kind of material they desire.

Ley introduced a resolution granting Christian Koester the privilege of building a frame residence at the corner of Walnut street and St. Louis avenue. This is in the fire limits and a frame building cannot be erected unless the council gives its consent.

Ahlbrand introduced a resolution providing for the appointment of Charles Wallace as a member of the police department. The resolution was adopted.

Upon motion of Steinwedel the resolution providing for the appointment of William Zickler and John Ruddle as special policemen from May 2 to May 9 was adopted.

Property owners on Mill street asked that a sewer be constructed from Sixth street to the alley on Third street. The city engineer was instructed to prepare a profile and report at the next meeting of the works board.

Andrews presented a petition signed by a number of property owners in Block "W" asking that an alley north and south be opened. The city engineer was ordered to prepare a plat of the block and file the same at the next meeting of the board of works.

Upon motion of Andrews the street commissioner was instructed to construct the approach to the alley on Third street between Poplar and Pine. The property owners are improving the street with curb and gutter and asked that the improvement be made.

Upon motion of Andrews, C. E. T. Dobbins was given permission to tap the sanitary sewer in Westover addition to the city.

The trustees of the First Baptist church were granted the right to erect a "portable" hitchrack on Tipton street. It will be constructed so that it can be erected on Saturday afternoon and removed on Monday morning.

Upon motion of Andrews the chief of the fire department was ordered to disconnect the gas heater at the city building. Before this heater was in use the bills were about thirty cents a month but since that time they have jumped to $12 and $14 per month.

The owner of the property at Tipton ton and Poplar streets was instructed to repair the sidewalk.

Upon motion of Steinwedel owners of the property on Walnut and Jackson streets were given permission to widen the sidewalk.

Upon motion of Murray the Nazarene church was given the right to use the city park from July 17 to 27 for camp meeting purposes.

The Eagles Lodge was given permission to use the city park Sunday, May 31, for their annual memorial services.

COPIES OF SPECIAL ACT MAILED TO COUNTY CLERKS

Vote Will be Taken Next November on Proposition to Hold Constitutional Convention.

Secretary of State L. G. Ellingham has distributed to the clerks of the various counties copies of the special act of the last Indiana legislature providing for a vote on the proposition to hold a constitutional convention to frame a new state constitution. The question will be voted on at the next November election.

Under the rules governing the vote on the proposition a separate ballot will be provided on which will be printed the words "Yes" and "No." Voters who are in favor of holding the constitutional convention may vote for it by marking an "X" in the square beside the word "Yes," and those opposed by making an "X" beside the word "No."

Should the proposition carry an election will be held the first Tuesday after the first Monday in March, 1915, to select delegates to the convention, which would be held the first Monday in May, 1915. The number of delegates to the convention will be the same as the number of members of the legislature, and they will be apportioned among the counties of the state the same as members of the legislature are apportioned. Any voter may become a candidate on a petition signed by 100 voters of his county.

HOME RULE PROBLEM NEARING SETTLEMENT

Government Sustained By Vote of 344 to 266.

London, April 30.—In the house of commons the debate on Austen Chamberlain's motion for a vote of censure of the government for its home rule policy, was a mixture of irascible fury and conciliatory protestations, ending in a note of peace. Both sides now profess to believe that a settlement is possible and may be near.

The house resumed the debate under the influence of Winston Churchill's speech, in which the first lord of the admiralty sought to extend an olive branch. Premier Asquith said that Mr. Churchill's statement was entirely personal, but that, while it had not been investigated by the cabinet, the premier endorsed its tenor.

Arthur J. Balfour delivered an eloquent speech, the peroration of which was of the nature of a swan song, the former premier sorrowfully admitting that his political life work in behalf of the union had failed and inferentially admitting that home rule had become inevitable. Sir Edward Carson had said in effect that if the government would exclude Ulster from home rule until parliament should otherwise determine, he would submit the proposal to an Ulster convention, while if it would exclude Ulster until a federal scheme should be adopted for the whole United Kingdom he would press such a proposal before his countrymen. He would be glad if the Dublin parliament were so successful in the west and south that it would be to Ulster's interest to come under it.

Bonar Law, the Unionist leader, confessed that the present situation caused him to fear for the future of England. He added that if the premier believed that a renewal of conversations would be useful he would welcome a meeting. The motion to censure the government was defeated, 344 to 266.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 1.—Otis Gulley of Danville was selected as the Progressive candidate for congress when Progressives of the Fifth district held their convention here. His name was the only one presented.

Gertrude Strassburg, of Cincinnati, on May 21, 1868 and they moved to this city at once. He has the distinction of being one of the members of the first volunteer bucket brigade in Seymour. After a time the hand pump was purchased and he continued as a member of the J. J. Frey Company. In 1885 he was elected street commissioner and served for seven years. While he acted in that capacity many improvements were made upon the streets and to these he gave his personal and careful attention. He kept in mind the best interests of the city while he was an employee of the council and gave close attention to his work.

There are but a few persons in Seymour who have lived here longer than Mr. Burkart. The great majority of the early buildings have been torn down to make room for the new and modern structures which mark the progress and advancement of the city. During his residence in Seymour he has seen the swamps converted into fertile farms by perfect systems of drainage and has witnessed the disappearance of the dense forests. When he first came here the woodlands began at what is now the corner of Chestnut and Bruce streets and covered two hundred acres or more to the west. Shortly after he came here he was hunting in what is now the southwest part of the city and with the coming of night was unable to find his way home. He remained in the forest for four hours before he found his way to the town. He recalled this incident in telling of the wide territory covered by trees.

Mr. Burkart is enthusiastic over the future prospects of the city. He believes that there is no city in southern Indiana that is better situated as a commercial and trading center than Seymour. He is proud of the beautiful appearance of the streets and residence and business districts and often compares the present conditions with those of sixty years ago.

Mr. Burkart is now engaged as a contractor and has directed much of the concrete work about the city. While his health has not been such that he would be actively employed all the time this winter he expects to be able to again follow the work this spring and summer.

Mrs. John Vanosdol and daughter returned this morning from Indianapolis where they have been on account of the serious illness of Mr. Vanosdol's father. Mr. Vanosdol will remain with his father until he is improved.

Mrs. Joseph Baxter returned to her home in Shelbyville this morning after spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Champ-ion.

A REACTION EXPERIENCED

A Noticeable Subsidence of the War Spirit in Indiana.

Indianapolis, April 30.—A reaction is being experienced after a week of excitement and anticipation among the members of the Indiana national guard now that peace envoys are at work trying to prevent open war between the United States and Mexico.

Instead of eager expectation, those who desire to go to the front are content to await instructions from the war department. No orders for the mobilization of the state troops have been received.

The adjutant general is thankful to the war "scare" for the interest it has stimulated in the national guard, which has been strengthened by many enlistments.

GENERAL VILLA ARRANGING FOR ATTACK ON SALTILLO

Expects to Put Fifteen Brigades in the Field and Has Made Lavish Distribution of Ammunition.

Chihuahua, May 1.—In answer to the statement yesterday regarding the request of Latin-American mediators for an armistice, that the next move to be considered by the representatives of Brazil, Argentina and Chili would involve the Constitutionalists in Mexico, has been made public.

Representatives of the rebels declared that the preparations now being made by Gen. Francisco Villa to take the field against the Federal garrison at Saltillo was the best answer to any possible request by the Latin-American countries for a cessation of hostilities between the Federals and rebels. Villa is expected to reach the front Monday.

Gen. Villa has taken immediate steps to mobilize his entire fighting force, estimated at 15,000 men, around Saltillo. In the forefront it is said will be Monclovia Herrera's brigade of 1,300 men. Herrera, with his brother Luis, is credited with the reputation of being the most effective "fighting man" in north Mexico, with the exception of Villa. It was reported at one time that Carranza contemplated replacing Gen. Villa in the supreme Constitutional military command by Gen. Herrera.

Many of the troops counted on to take part in the movement against Saltillo already are in the field. Gen. Fernando Cos has 4,000 men operating south of Saltillo. It is said that Villa, in expectation of making a demonstration before Saltillo, will leave only a handful of troops to garrison Chihuahua, Torreon and Monterrey.

Villa, it is reported, expects to put fifteen brigades into the field. This distribution of his command does not follow the United States or foreign methods.

Some of the brigades number only 300 men, but each is definitely identified with some particular "general," whose care for his troops and personal fighting qualities have so endeared him to his men that the real objectives of the revolutionary movement have been subordinated in the minds of the common soldiers to the fact that they fight at the command and live under the protection of the general in whose brigade they serve.

Distribution of cartridges at Chihuahua among certain commands has been lavish. This is said to be an indication that the army of Villa is in condition to undergo a protracted campaign in the field, even before the capture of Tampico, which is counted on to give the rebels a port of entry which will be independent of foreign regulations of shipments.

The Federal garrison at Saltillo originally consisted of 2,200 men but the fugitives from the remnants of Velasco's Torreon army and the fleeing garrison of Monterrey have increased that force to 10,000. The present Federal line of defense runs through Zacatecas, Saltillo and Tampico. Zacatecas already is invested by Gen. Uterera, who is said to have the Federal garrison effectively bottled. Rebel officers are confident that Tampico will fall soon.

Gen. Velasco now is in the City of Mexico and the identity of the commander of the Federal forces at Saltillo is unknown here. San Pedro is expected to be the rebel base for the operations against Saltillo. The railroad line from that point now has been opened to Hipolito.

It is estimated that the rebel forces have thirty field guns, but it is reported that the supply of ammunition for this branch of the service is extremely limited. The supply of ammunition at the disposition of the rebels is estimated by foreign army officers at 400 rounds for each man.

U. S. CO. WILL NOT ACCEPT TELEGRAPHIC MONEY ORDERS

Notice to This Effect Has Been Received at the Local Office—First Step of Dissolution.

Agents of the United Express Company have received notice that beginning today they are to refuse telegraphic money orders. This, it is believed, is the first step towards the ultimate dissolution of the company. Money to be sent as express will be accepted but hereafter no telegraphic money orders will be sent. Miss Effie Smith, agent of the company here, has been notified of the change.

While no official announcement has been received by the local agents it is generally reported that the United Express Company will go out of business some time this summer or fall. It is said that the contracts with some of the railroads will expire June 30 and that the service over such routes will be discontinued after that date. No official notice has been received at the local office that the company is to retire from the express field.

According to the reports that are in circulation the Wells Fargo Company and the Western Express Company are bidding for the United States Express business. The Adams is not making any effort to take over the company. It is not known which company will take over the business when the U. S. Company ceases business operations.
